Heathfield Farm

A park so green it won a Gold Award from David Bellamy!

Heathfield Farm has, for many years, been a winner of the prestigious David Bellamy Gold Award for conservation and has also achieved Green Island Gold Award status.

We offer nine acres of unspoilt countryside on the site of a non-working farm. The planting of indigenous trees and shrubs has created a haven for birds and small mammals. You may even catch a glimpse of our resident red squirrels.

The park is open and level, with easy access to our sixty generously spaced marked pitches, fifty of which have electric hookups. Trees and hedgerows give shelter to most pitches. There is also a wild flower meadow with plenty of space to exercise dogs. The separate playing field is ideal for ball games and has two barbecue areas with picnic tables.

Fishing, golf, horse riding, sailing and other water sports are all available nearby. The park is also a great starting point for exploring the surrounding countryside on foot or by bike. An on-site information board with a map of colour coded walks will help you to decide your route.

Location

The West Wight has some of the Island's most spectacular scenery.

On a clear day the views from the National Trust's Tennyson Down are breathtaking. The Needles and Alum Bay, famous for its coloured sands, is only two miles away. Nearby, the historic harbour town of Yarmouth is ideal for sailing enthusiasts.

Half of the Island is a designated an 'Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty', and much of the seashore is Heritage Coast. There are 67 miles of spectacularly varied coastline, offering chalk and sandstone cliffs, rocky coves and sandy beaches. The Island is established as a walkers paradise with over 500 miles of well signposted footpaths, and many miles of rural cycle track.

Over 500 miles of footpaths to explore!

In the past the Island has been a retreat for many famous people including Queen Victoria at Osborne House and Keats at Bonchurch. Freshwater Bay attracted both Poet Laureate Lord Tennyson and the pioneering Victorian photographer Julia Margaret Cameron.

A short walk leads you to the safe and sandy beach of Colwell and the adjoining bay of Totland. Whilst these beaches appeal to sunseekers and those interested in building sandcastles or exploring rock pools, the nearby beaches of Compton and Brook are ideal for surfing and fossil hunting.
